PUBLIC DEBT AND TAXATION.—We may be thankful to Secretary McCulloch and Mr. Wells, of the United States revenue commission, for their timely admonition to Congress of the necessity of some moderate appropriations. Left to themselves and the suggestions of popularity in their several States and districts, Congress might burden the country with another debt of three hundred millions. Mr. Wells shows that the existing public debt of the United States is now comparatively larger than that of any of the States of the Old World, and is only exceeded by that of Great Britain. By direct and indirect taxation, we have lately drawn from industry of the country four hundred and millions in nine months, which is at the rate of five hundred and forty millions per annum. No country ever did this before, and it is well understood that we cannot continue to do it.

There will be a large falling off in receipts for the next fiscal year, arising from diminished importations and diminished value and quantity of industrial products. In this state of facts is an argument against the increase of our burden of taxation. Mr. Wells throws out the important hint that the people will not bear with composure an increase of taxation. The exemption of United States bonds from taxation is so far tolerated by the people, but only in the expectation that taxes on the necessities of life shall be reduced and the debt not increased.

Accordingly, the Committee of Ways and Means have reported an internal revenue bill which will reduce the amount of taxes, in the aggregate, by seventy millions. But this would be invested with the proposed addition of two hundred and fifty millions to the public debt, for the equalization of bounties. The fifteen millions of interest thus to be raised by taxation would render it impossible to take off taxes to the like amount of fifteen millions from many articles of common use.

It is certain that if Congress should persist in projects which will add some five or six hundred millions to the debt, and call for increased taxation, they will demand that the United States funded debt shall be taxed in the hands of holders, and that ultimately the three hundred thousand million of funded debt shall be its own interest. That would be repudiation which the American people would abhor, as Mr. Wells remarks, "nations, like individuals, may have their patriotism taxed beyond endurance."—Sunday Herald.

EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.—Within a few days past a great change is noticeable in the matter of Executive appointments. The President seems to have realized that longer forbearance with the enemies of his Administration, and its measures was working rank injustice to his friends, and to have realized the potency of the old party maxim, that "to the victors belong the spoils." As a consequence, the Radicals who mustered offshoots enough to call for the President and solicit reward for their labors, and were treated to a plain exposition of his intentions for the future. They were told in language decisive and unmistakable, that his friends should have the preference, and that no known enemy of the Administration policy should receive the quasi endorsement of a Federal appointment. In addition to this, the axe has actually been set to work, and decapitations are now of daily occurrence. Its effects are already visible in the altered and respectful deportment of more than one Radical opponent in both branches of Congress. Hereafter, when the President's private secretary was sent to the Capitol on official business, he was received with a hospitality that was absolutely insulting. Within a few days all have become anxious to do him reverence. He is met with the blindest of smiles and surrounded by crowds who protest against any rupture of the friendly relations that should exist between the President and Congress, and who vie with each other in bestowing attention, uttering pretty speeches, and deprecating the idea that they are or ever were in hostility to the Executive. But the work will go on. No one will be deceived by hollow pretences. Those office-holders who have abused their position to vilify the President and disrupt the Republican party will be made to give way to better men. The bare manifestation of this resolve has already half accomplished its purpose.

RAILROAD CONNECTIONS.—Mr. Garfield introduced in the House to-day a bill to promote the construction of a line of railroad between the city of Washington and the Northwest, for national purposes. The bill enacts that whereas there is now a complete line of railroad between the city of Washington and Cumberland, which is about being shortened fifty miles by a line from Washington to the Point of Rocks; and whereas but a comparatively short distance between Cumberland and Pittsburgh remain to be completed to furnish a direct communication by a short and advantageous route between Washington and Pittsburgh and the Northwest; and whereas the Legislature of Pennsylvania has attempted to create impediments in connecting the railroads authorized to be built in Maryland and Pennsylvania; and whereas it is proper for military and postal purposes, and especially to facilitate and regulate commercial intercourse among the States, therefore the Pittsburgh and Connetquot Company of Pennsylvania, and the Pittsburgh and Connetquot Company of Maryland are authorized to complete and continue their respective works, so as to form a continuous line between Cumberland and Pittsburgh.—Wash. Star.

Are the lives of your children in jeopardy
from sudden and repeated attacks of Croup?
If so purchase a box of
BLADES' EUPHONAL LUBRICATORS!
The people's most sure and effectual remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Diphtheria and all pulmonary diseases.
The LUBRICATOR is a medicinal preparation
in the form of Lozenges, which of all modes
is the most pleasant and convenient. They contain no deleterious ingredient, and are warranted
to be always safe, even for the weakest and most sensitive stomach. In Croup they give immediate relief. For Coughs and Colds they are invaluable.
For Catarrh, Asthma, and Bronchitis they have no equal in the market, (vide Certificates accompanying each box.) Diphtheria, that dreaded and desolating disease, they control wonderfully and almost immediately.
No Public Speaker, Singer or Teacher, should be without them, as they remove hoarseness and strengthen and clear the voice.
Always use them in time, and if the symptoms are severe use very freely.
